Christmas Club Checks Total Nearly $80,000 Here

A whopping total of nearly $80,000 in cold cash will be released in Fulton this weekend when both local banks send out their Christmas Club checks to members. This is the largest amount ever accumulated by local bank patrons, up some $7000 from last year. Fulton Bank, which has had the Christmas Club plan for a number of years, reported 608 members this year, and City National, rounding out its second year, tallied over 400 Club members.

With more than a billion and a half dollars released nationally from the Christmas Club surveys show that the total will be used in the following ways: Christmas Purchases, $472,158,300; Savings and Investment for future use, $661,021,620; Taxes, $267,556,370; Year-end Bills, $78,693,050; Miscellaneous, $94,431,660.

"Christmas Club has become a part of the American way of life," said M. R. Jeffress, Cashier of the Fulton Bank.

"It's our proof that in their own small way every man and woman can be a capitalist and decide for themselves what they will save and how they will use their savings."

The new clubs start in both banks on Monday, November 26.

The Christmas buying spree broke out just before the Thanksgiving holidays in Fulton and this week local merchants are being kept busy with shoppers eager to have first choice in selecting their gifts from the many beautiful items in the stores downtown.

Fulton merchants are enthusiastic about the prospects that sales will push the year's dollar volume (Continued on page twelve)

JUDGE STAHR receives gold watch from Milton Anderson as Wood Tipton looks on. (see story).

Judge Elvis Stahr Honored By Associates At Testimonial Dinner

"He will live long, long after some of you have gone." "He has an innate sense of justice that can't be rivaled." "He has brought more fame to the First District than any other District has had in 30 years."

Remarks such as the above made by Attorney Tom Waller of Paducah, current President of the Kentucky Bar Association, were accorded by every speaker at every opportunity Tuesday night at a testimonial dinner for Judge Elvis Stahr of Hickman, retiring January 1st as Circuit Judge after a long and distinguished career.

The dinner was held at the Park Terrace restaurant in Fulton with W. C. Tipton, Hickman, as host. The dinner preceded a business meeting and election of officers of the First District Bar Association.

"We are here to do honor to one of Kentucky's outstanding citizens," pointed out Milton C. Anderson, Wickliffe. "He has the best record of affirmations in the Court of Appeals of any Judge in the First District of Kentucky history," Anderson pointed out, concluding his extensive remarks and recollections about his old friend and classmate by presenting him a gold watch from attorneys in the first District. The watch contained the engraving

Roy Roberts, Mayfield, was elected president of the First District Bar Association. James Warren, Fulton, was named vice president and Mrs. Nancy Montgomery was reelected secretary and treasurer.

Mail Early For Christmas

Postmaster Joe Treas said today, "Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. Post Office facilities have been expanded, ample help will be available, and everything is being geared up to handle a record Christmas mail this year."

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is a month away by the calendar, it's Christmas every day at the Post Office from now on.

The Postmaster advises, "Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

He said further, "If you have articles of unusual size or bulk,

Pretty Princess Caro Of Fulton Rotary Club Tuesday

Margaret I. King Library
Periodical Dept.
University of Kentucky,
Lexington, Ky.

Princess Carol Glisson returned to Fulton Tuesday to receive her cup, now suitably engraved with her name, as pretty ambassador of the International Banana Festival.

Presentation of the cup was made at the Rotary Club meeting by President Bob Morgan. The Rotary Club produced and directed the beauty pageant in which Princess Carol was selected from 25 Western Kentucky and Tennessee beauties during the festival two weeks ago.

Also on hand for the presentation was Bob Glisson, Princess Carol's father, who is associated with the Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Fulton and is himself a Rotarian.

In her remarks to the Rotarians following re-presentation of the cup (the night she won it at the pageant it did not, of course, have her name on it) Princess Carol happily told members of the multitude of bananas that she had received from New Orleans the week after winning her title, and how she was able to provide sororities, fraternities, students and everyone she knew of in Martin with about all of the bananas they could eat for quite some time. She will soon take time out of her busy schedule at UTMB to go to New Orleans on "official duties," she stated, and after January is slated for a trip to Miami ... and is very thrilled about everything.

Milk Producers Show Big Price Gain Over Last Year, Kyana Report Says

Kentucky and Southern Indiana dairy farmers averaged nearly 20 cents a hundred pounds more for their milk during the first nine months of 1963 than the same period a year ago. For the first six months of the year they averaged 11 cents a hundred pounds higher than the average of all federal milk-market orders in the United States. This was announced in a report by Burdette L. Fisher, General Manager of Kyana Milk Producers, a co-operative that markets milk for more than 3,000 dairy farmers in the Kentucky-Southern Indiana area.

Translated into dollars, Kyana farmers received about $1,100,000 more for their milk this year than during the same period a year ago.

In addition, Fisher's report showed that more milk from co-operative members' cows went into bottled milk this year than was the case a year ago. Fisher said 72 per cent of the milk produced here was bottled as fresh milk, compared with 67 per cent last year.

Two major reasons were given by Fisher for the better position of Kentucky and Southern Indiana dairymen this year. One is that retail selling methods have been improved. Another is the Kyana milk-holding and processing plant in Louisville.

Storage facilities for 260,000 pounds of milk allow the co-operative to channel surplus milk into other markets at whole-milk prices. If that fails, the milk can be churned, separated or dried with plant equipment.

Milk is shipped by producers to Kyana-assigned bottlers and handlers. The processors pay Kyana for the use they make of the milk—one price for bottled milk and a lower price for milk used in the making of cheese, butter, ice cream, dried milk and other dairy products.

The co-operative then, under regulations of the federal milk-market order in Louisville, pays farmers a "blend" price for their milk, again based on the use to which it was put.

Fisher believes that Kentucky and Southern Indiana are becoming more and more important in the national dairy picture.

"It is by dairy farmers working together in their co-operative," he says, "that the industry will continue to show improvement."

Rotary "Court" Hails Hales For Lousing Up Television Program

J. D. Hales, caught in the NBC television cameras as he ogled the beauty show at the Banana Festival pageant—and accorded special notice on the nation-wide Huntley-Brinkley report last weekend, was fined $5 by the Fulton Rotary Club at their meeting Tuesday by a Kangaroo Court assembled by Club members.

The fine was assessed following the "arrest" of Hales by Fulton Police Chief Richard Myatt (also a club member) on a complaint by Rotary President Bob Morgan over the action, which was committed in the State of Tennessee.

The complaint follows:

The affiant, Bob Morgan, says that on the 8th day of November, 1963 within the City Limits of The City of Fulton and South Fulton, Tennessee the above named John D. Hales did feloniously and maliciously and with malice aforethought project his image, his ugly face and his unsightly countenance into, onto, and upon a T. Bob Morgan of Fulton Rotary Club

Following the hilarious action of the Club and the payment of the five bucks by Hales, he was relieved of his duties as Sergeant-At-Arms for two weeks in order to prevent immediate reprisals. Fred Homra, appointed defense attorney, pointed out that Hales was merely observing—intently—the new Princess Carol Glisson, (who happened to be present in person Tuesday to receive her engraved cup) but this defense was ignored by the Court, which felt that Hales was given entirely too much viewing time of the four minutes that the Huntley-Brinkley news report allotted to the entire festival.

There being no further defense arguments, the case was closed.

The Long Story Of Krebiozen, The So - Called Cancer Drug, Comes To Dishonorable End

The Story of the drug krebiozen, once hailed as a completely new approach to the cure of cancer, appears to be reaching an ignominious end. Not only do findings of the Food and Drug Administration and the National Cancer Institute wreck the hopes of hundreds of sincerely convinced people; they seem likely as well to wreck what remains of the career of a distinguished research scholar, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy.

It is twelve years since Dr. Ivy first risked his professional reputation by vouching for the effectiveness of krebiozen in cancer treatment before it had been evaluated by any independent research body and while its principal constituents remained unknown to scientists.

The story of the drug has never been satisfactorily explained. It supposedly was brought here from Argentina by two refugee Yugoslav brothers who had extracted it from horse serum. Dr. Ivy took the highly unusual step of announcing their discovery, and his own faith in it, at a press luncheon rather than through the usual channels of testing and evaluation.

His activities led to his suspension from the Cook County Medical Society and an enforced leave of absence from the University of Illinois. Meanwhile the Durovic brothers refused to reveal any details of the discovery of their drug which, further confusing researchers, had been dissolved into thousands of ampoules of mineral oil.

The American Medical Association denounced the product as "worthless" because it could obtain no controlled tests and no information as to the base of the drug. But krebiozen continued to attract devoted adherents because, by the very nature of the disease, some people who took it noticed remission of symptoms, relief of pain and occasionally a complete disappearance of their tumor. These subjective signs, pointed out the A. M. A., are observable in all cancer cases; they proved nothing about krebiozen because no long, scientifically controlled test of it was ever given. The brothers Durovic replied with a sensational account of a "plot" by the A. M. A. or some of its members, to obtain control of the remedy.

The matter came to a head on two separate counts. New rules of the F. D. A. give it the duty of knowing the chemical composition of any drug licensed for experimental sale in the United States. Krebiozen was then being shipped around the country and, in spite of laws forbidding the sale of experimental drugs, its users were asked for "donations" of $9.50 an ampoule. It took the department a full year to secure compliance from the owners of krebiozen and a sample of the drug. In the meantime the National Cancer Institute, investigating at the request of a judge hearing a libel suit brought by Dr. Ivy against the former president of the University of Illinois, had had similar difficulty obtaining samples and case histories, in spite of Dr. Ivy's promise to supply them.

The two groups, acting independently, finally were able to test the mysterious samples for resemblances to other drugs already known to science. Both found the operative substance in the krebiozen ampoule to be creatine, a common product, of no value in cancer treatment and obtainable at a low price from any animal matter.

Further reports are due this week from the Cancer Institute. The F. D. A. is asking the proprietors of krebiozen to show cause why they should not be prosecuted in criminal court. Both the Durovics and Dr. Ivy protest that the findings are wrong, but still offer no further information on their mysterious compound.

When a cure for cancer—and it is unlikely that there will ever be one remedy for all types of the disease—is found, we may rest assured that it will be neither introduced nor marketed to an envious public in the way krebiozen has been.

An Author Unknown May Have The Answer As To Success Of Our First International Festival

For all those people, inside and out of Fulton, who wonder how the twin cities put together such a giant undertaking as the Banana Festival, an Author Unknown may have the answer. That the festival was a tremendous success there can be no doubt. So read this little poem today, and keep it when you want to look back on things in general.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

It's doing your job the best you can,
And being just to your fellow man;
Not making money, but holding friends,
And staying true to your aims and ends.

It's figuring how and learning why,
And looking forward and thinking
high,
And dreaming little and doing much;
It's keeping always in closest touch
With what is finest in word and deed;
It's daring blithely the field of chance
While making of labor a brave romance.

It's going onward despite defeat

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission

By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week the Louisville Journal commented on a report that authorities at Washington were considering giving the Confederate cavalry leader, Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan of Kentucky, back to the Confederate States Army in exchange for a Union Army officer of equal rank, Brig. Gen. Neal Dow, who was a prisoner of war in the South. Morgan, who had surrendered July 26, ending his daring raid into Indiana and Ohio, was being held in the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus.

George D. Prentice, the strongly Unionist editor of the Louisville Journal, was opposed to letting an "immensely effective" Confederate leader like Morgan return to duty, merely for the sake of getting Dow out of Libby Prison, Richmond, Va., and having him return to duty with the Union Army. Dow, a Quaker and a successful Maine business man, had turned temperance crusader and in 1851 was successful in having a prohibition law enacted in Maine. Commissioned colonel, he had gone to war in 1861 as commanding officer of the 13th Maine Infantry regiment. The Quakers had expelled him from the Society of Friends for becoming a soldier. Twice wounded at Port Hudson, he had been captured while recovering.

The Louisville Journal editor wrote: "So long as there is no general exchange—so long as the great mass of prisoners on both sides are left in confinement—for heaven's sake let not John Morgan be an exception. . . He has made his appearances here, there and everywhere. He has inflicted twice as much injury upon Union men and the Union cause as any other officer of his grade connected with Bragg's army. He has been the terror of the Federals and the boast and glory of the Rebels."

Prentice argued that releasing Morgan would be paying too high a price for an officer like Dow, saying, "We used to hear of him as a temperance lecturer in Maine, but when and where has he done anything in the war?" When this protest appeared in the Louisville newspaper, some of Morgan's officers, confined with him at Columbus, were nearing completion of a tunnel through which he and six others would escape during the following week. (Dow would have to remain in Libby Prison until March of 1864, when he would be exchanged for Confederate Brig. Gen. William Henry Fitzhugh ("Rooney") Lee, second eldest son of Gen. Robert E. Lee.)

Mrs. William Railing of Covington received a letter from her husband, a Union soldier who had been captured at Chickamauga in September and sent to Libby Prison. It had taken the letter three weeks to travel from Richmond, Va., to Covington, Ky. She and others wishing to write to prisoners of war or others in Confederate territory could send a single sheet in an unsealed envelope, enclosed (with five cents for postage to Richmond, ten cents to other points) in a larger envelope addressed to "Commanding General Fortress Monroe, Va., for Flag of Truce."

Presentations will be made by dinner at the Americana Hotel in New York on Dec. 4.

The 1963 winners were selected because of their outstanding contributions in the field of mental retardation. The Foundation awards were made in three general areas: scientific research, service in the development of individual or group programs to aid the mentally retarded and leadership by public officials, civic leaders, authors or others who have awakened the public conscience or led to increased individual and community efforts in the mental retardation field.

Gov. Combs, who was one of the winners in the leadership category, has been a key factor in organizing programs in Kentucky to help the mentally retarded. He was unusually effective in creating the belief on the part of the masses of people that something could be done for the mentally retarded. He has worked consistently with professional leaders in the field of mental retardation and has encouraged community leaders to take local action at local levels.

A graduate of Cumberland College and of the University of Kentucky, where he took his law degree, Gov. Combs has been an attorney, a judge, and served on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Other winners in the leadership category were: Sen. Lister Hill from Alabama and Rep. John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island.

Letters To Editor

Dear Jo,
I want to congratulate you and the other Fultonians on the tremendous parade down there last Saturday. Although I could not attend the other functions of the Banana Festival, I did get there for the parade—which I thought you all certainly added a "star" was certainly the best one I've seen in this area.

in your crown" with your week's observance, and I'm sure that your future festival "stars" will shine as brightly.
With best wishes,
Sincerely,
Lon Carter Barton
Representative Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Dear Johanna:
Here's a set of the glossies including the one you really wanted on top.

I need a couple pix and perhaps you have some extras. Ralph Lewis took some shots of kids pulling bananas off the stem on Lake St.—can you send me a couple of glossies of those if you have them handy.

I've told you my feelings, but I would like to say again that I think that Nathan, you, Bill Scott and the whole crew did one fine job in pulling that whinding-together in a comparatively few short weeks.

My congratulations to Fulton and South Fulton and to all of you who gave so much to make the first International Banana Festival a success.

Best regards.
Cordially,

Dear Jo:
I just want to tell you that I certainly enjoyed the Banana Festival.

All of you did a marvelous job. I have never seen such teamwork in all of my life.

Chairman Governors and Dignitaries Day
Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:
May I say it was a pleasure to be in your city last Friday, and to attend the various activities of Friday's Banana Festival.

I used to work out of Fulton with the Prudential Insurance Company, and was able to renew some old friendships with my former staff; Manager G. H. Duley and his lovely wife and with Chas. Gregory, and wife Prudential agent, now retired.

I also appreciated meeting and greeting various mayors and other dignitaries.

My congratulations on a job well done and it is my sincere wish this occasion will be even bigger and better in the future and I am sure it will be.

My thanks again for a nice day. When in Mayfield, I would appreciate your dropping by the city hall.

Harry H. Vandergriff,
Mayor of Mayfield

Mr. Nathan Wade, Chairman
Twin Cities Banana Festival
Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Nathan:
Thanks for the check which arrived today, and also for the kind words with regard to the Pageant.

When a job is one that you enjoy it makes it so much easier to make what you're doing a successful project. I thoroughly enjoyed every minute of my part of the Festival, and am happy that everything turned out well. The girls were all wonderful, and easy to work with, and everyone with whom I came in contact was grand. Thank them all for me for making my job such a simple one. I naturally, because of the confusion, did not get to say what I wanted to to everyone before I left, with my best regards. I would seriously like to come back next year, and would appreciate your the best of luck to you all.

Sincerely,
considering me. Thanks again, and

Dear Jo:
Guess you have about recovered from the successful Banana Festival of last week, from all accounts it must have been a huge success.

We tried to give you all the coverage we possibly could on the Mighty WCBL. Mentioning it every time we could possibly do so and always on the Bulletin Board three times a day. Plus the 10 spots at $2.00 each that "we done up brown" for you.

Just let me know when you want anything given publicity, and

Dear Nathan,
Congratulations upon a most successful first Banana Festival.

I hope by now you are rested. Thank you for allowing me to participate in and enjoy the festivities. Being a beauty contest judge was a special joy.

Best wishes.
Hope to see you soon.

Dear Friends:
Mr. Fred Harris, William Laughlin and I certainly thank all of you for inviting us to the Governor's and Dignitaries' Day at the Fulton-South Fulton First International Banana Festival.

From the moment we arrived Friday until we left in the evening was certainly a time of enjoyment and interest to each of us.

The hard work and effort put forth by each committee was certainly evident from the well planned program of the day and the cordiality and courtesies extended from the people of Fulton-South Fulton was certainly a tribute to the Twin Cities.

There can be no doubt that this First International Banana Festival was a huge success and our hats are off for a job well done to all responsible.

Thank you again for your invitation and each of us look forward to next year when we hope to have the opportunity to be present at the Second International Banana Festival.
Sincerely,
Don Hollifield

Dear Jo:

From all reports and indications that we have received the festival was indeed a success and I am delighted to know that you are going to do it next year. I might suggest that you firm up the dates as soon as possible so that we can include them in our Calendar of Events. To me this looks like an annual affair that is well worth the efforts of everyone.

Shop Classes Undertake Various Projects To Round Out Education

"From the FHS Kennel"

The shop classes are quite busy these days with the different projects going on. Each boy is trying to do his best as some of these projects will probably go to Murray to the Regional Exhibit.

In the advanced woodworking class, which meets second hour, James Chester Turner is making a drop-leaf dining table. He is using cherry wood for this table. Jimmy Yates is constructing a poster bed. Jimmy is also using cherry wood. Marshall Burgess decided to make a school master desk of walnut.

The third hour freshman, or general, shop class has just completed a six-weeks of working in plastics. David Hazelwood and Henry Armstrong are now working with sheet metal and are making such objects as garden spades.

Lloyd Bone is making a bookcase, and Lowell Grooms is making a poster bed as his project in second-year shop. Both of these boys are using walnut in their work. David Worley and Robert Thurman have taken time to help Mr. Robertson with some work for the Banana Festival.

Teddy Barclay and Gerald Bradley, along with the other boys in sixth hour drawing class, are engaged at the moment in engineering drawing. As their talents develop, they will delve more deeply into the course.

These boys spend a good deal of time on their projects and are very conscientious about their work. A large number of them manage to stay on the honor roll and still keep up with the shop projects.

I am Thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship my Lord each Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The grocery and meat business is one that holds the interest of the people all the year around and Smith Grocery and Market is among the foremost firms in this section. This progressive store is located in Union City, Tenn.

In trading with this store you are helping build a better community and further increasing the buying power of the local people.

It is a well-known fact that there is not an institution in Union City that has met with greater favor with the public than Smith's Grocery and Market by reason that they give service, satisfaction and quality merchandise.

Their fancy grocery and choice meat departments are very popular with the new and old customers. They carry complete lines of fruits and vegetables and sell at consistently low prices. Their stocks are attractively displayed and customers are given the opportunity to make their own selection if they desire.

In the way of groceries this fine store has just about become headquarters as they have complete equipment for handling of groceries and get all the stock fresh.

Smith's Grocery and Market is a friendly grocery and market, where quality is the best, prices are low and the service supreme.

We are indeed most glad to give them extended mention in this business review.

Time To Take Diabetes Test

Every man, woman, and child in Kentucky was urged today by Robert S. Tillett, M.D., Louisville, chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, to take advantage of the free diabetes tests offered by physicians, hospitals, and laboratories during National Diabetes Week which begins Sunday.

The importance of early detection of diabetes was stressed by Governor Bert T. Combs who has proclaimed the period from November 17-23 as Diabetes Week in Kentucky.

He emphasized the importance of being tested for diabetes each year, since early detection can greatly simplify the problems of control of the disease. "The unfortunate victims of the disease are those that are unaware they have it," he said, "because when caught early, very often the only precautions needed to insure a long life are control of weight and diet."

OLIVER LIVESTOCK COMPANY

Buying and Selling of all Kinds of Livestock. Highest Market Prices Paid at All Times.

Located on West Main Street in Union City, Tennessee. Telephone 885-5531.

No edition would be complete without mention of the prominent business operation of this most progressive establishment and its extensive operations in the way of conducting a market for the purchase of livestock.

They have been most fair and honest in their negotiations and afford the farmers a valuable market for their livestock.

It is very important that the farmers should have a market that is up to standard and this section is fortunate in having such an extensive dealer.

It takes men of integrity to handle a large volume of business, to be able to get the right selling markets and be able to pay the best price. These facts attract trade to the section and makes it a better place in which to live and transact business.

If we did not have an establishment of this kind, much of the livestock would have to be shipped to other cities and the seller would not receive a price that compares favorably with the price paid at this progressive concern.

We wish to compliment this concern upon their commendable policies and the valuable service they are rendering the public.

But few men have known the time in their lives when they do not need a quick loan to meet an emergency. These times seem to come during the days when an individual is struggling financially. Few situations are more embarrassing and more trying than when one needs money and it is not available. Perhaps you lived in a strange community. The bank didn't know you. The only recourse is to go to some friend—and few of them are accommodating at that time.

It was to meet needs like this arising every day in this and in every community that this confidential loan company was organized. They felt that reliable people could be saved much embarrassment and inconvenience by the establishment of such a loan service. The result of this was the organization of Obion County Finance Company, Inc., in whom the people

Located on South Fifth Street in Union City, Tennessee. Telephone 885-2131.

This is one of the institutions of Union City which is doing its part in furthering progress and expansion in Obion County and is well deserving of more than passing comment in this review in the progress and expansion aiding the era of prosperity we are experiencing and bringing fame and advertising to this section through the general excellence of its services.

The general purpose of this edition is to give both the local and outside world an adequate idea of our progress and the general excellence of our various services. We deem it quite appropriate to devote this space to this well-known firm. The people who originated this enterprise obtained a liberal education in the school of experience and supplemented this with keen insight into the markets and with this desirable foundation they equipped the firm to render a service unexcelled.

The able management of this concern has constantly adhered to a "square deal to all" policy of giving the maximum quality and quantity of products with safe and sound business principles.

Through their straight-forward dealings with the public the management has made friends for the firm and they have taken an active interest in their fellowman, realizing that a concern which is not progressive will wither and die because of its environment.

HOME LUMBER COMPANY

Dealers in Quality Lumber, Sash, Doors, Clay Products, Brick, Weather Strips, Insulation Materials, Millwork, Sand, Gravel, Cement, Paints and Roofing. Located on East Harrison Street in Union City, Tennessee. Telephone 885-3303.

They have built up an enviable reputation in the business circles of this section due to desire and ability to offer at all times prices and quality that defy competition in this line.

The life of any structure is in a very large measure determined by the kind of material used in its construction and to know that your building will stand the test of years you can do no better than consult these lumber and building material men who have made a deep study of every phase of the lumber and building material business.

At the office of this company the customer encounters the most courteous treatment whether selling to contractor, builders or complete structure, and this is on factor that has been responsible for its popularity in this and adjoining counties.

We shall not attempt to detail their stock but suffice it to say their stock compares favorably with any in the large metropolitan centers. This concern is progressive up-to-date, and straight forward in its dealings and is always found willing to aid in any forward looking movement and to better homes and buildings.

MIDWAY SALVAGE COMPANY

Merlin Lyell and Montelle Lyell, Owners

New and Good Used Automobile and Truck Parts. They are Equipped to Install what they sell. They Buy Late Model Burned and Wrecked Cars. Located on the Martin Highway in Union City, Tennessee. Telephone 885-9873.

They have a large stock of auto parts, at bargain prices.

From the beginning this dealer realized that a satisfied customer is the best influence for more business and determined to build a reputation that would be the envy of the wrecking business. That they have succeeded is evidenced by the large amount of patronage they enjoy and the territory their activities cover.

They pay the highest prices for burned and wrecked cars. This means that they pay every dollar that could be gotten elsewhere. The matter of price has also received attention here for it has been come a well established fact that not only in Union City, but in the surrounding country that the quotations of Midway Salvage Company are always as low as consistent with sound business. They permit no one to offer higher quality, and this happy combination has resulted in a large and ever increasing patronage.

Midway Salvage Company with the associates of the concern, have always been boosters for the community and it is quite proper that we in this review should compliment them upon the position they hold in the business life of this section.

TAYLOR AERO SERVICE

Flight Instructions, Aircraft Rentals, Spraying, Cropping, Dusting, F. A. A. Approved Operations, Aircraft Major Repairing and Overhauling Service. Located at Everett-Stewart Airfield in Union City Tennessee. Telephone 885-5601.

When in need of this service, call on this firm and you will be more than glad to do business with them. This popular institution, founded many years ago, has grown with hardly a pause in its rapid development. That much discussed word—Service, finds a true expression in the friendly atmosphere that envelops every customer because service is interpreted in so many ways that it may well be said to be the sign manual of the institution. It has maintained an air of calm, friendly dignity which can be associated only with institutions of standing and pure position. We wish to take this opportunity to congratulate the management of this firm upon the policy of fair dealing which was inaugurated with the opening of this firm to the public and has never varied or departed in any way during the time it has had business dealings with people. We call attention to all the advantages of having a metropolitan service at their very door, which has maintained inviolate service to the public.

We are more than glad to give them extended mention in this business review.

President Of United States Congratulates Twin Cities

The President of the United States, John F. Kennedy, has wired his congratulations to the Citizens of Fulton and South Fulton on the First International Banana Festival.

The telegram to the President of the Festival was received here at 11:10 a. m. today, and is as follows: :

White House, Washington, D. C.
President of International Banana Festival
Fulton, Ky., South Fulton, Tennessee.

I have learned from Congressmen Frank Albert Stubblefield and Robert Everett that the twin cities of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn., are now observing their first International Banana Festival. On this most unique observance I am very pleased to extend my warm good wishes to the citizens of these communities and all of the participants in this celebration.

You are most deserving of commendation for contributions to the banana industry, and as part of vital economic link with our neighbors to the South. All of you will, I am sure, continue to represent our nation with its ideals with great credit. With all good wishes for a memorable and successful Banana Festival.

The Twin Cities are celebrating their distinction as "top-banana" in the re-distribution of bananas in America. Every year thousands of carloads of the fruit are brought here from southern ports. At local railroad yards they are re-iced and re-shipped to cities throughout the United States. To the banana industry, Fulton and South Fulton are known as "the banana crossroads of America."

INTERNATIONAL

(UPPER LEFT)—INDEED, THE LOVELY DONNA AXUM, MISS AMERICA OF 1964, held thousands of persons spell-bound from the moment she arrived in Memphis on Friday, November 8. Greeting her in Memphis are Jim Beasley of the Kentucky Department of Commerce, which arranged for her air travel to Fulton and Mrs. Paul Westpheling, (right) who served as Miss America's chaperone while at the Banana Festival. That's Miss America in that stunning checkered coat and "way-out" hat. The other lady in the photo is Miss Lucille Previti, Miss America's official chaperone.

—AW, IT'S NOTHING FELLAS ... That's what Nathan (Rusty) Wade, Jr. seems to be saying as he poses at the Union City airport with Miss America. Rusty presented her with a bouquet of red roses.

"Is it REALLY Miss America?" a little boy said as the giant float carrying the beautiful Donna Axum approached. When the float got nearer to him, and Miss America flashed that famous smile, the little fellow gasped ... "it's her ... the one that was on television."

That's the way it went, all up and down the three-mile long parade route Saturday when more than 20,000 people jammed the streets of the twin cities to see the most famous American beauty of them all. Appearing in one of the smallest towns that the Miss America Beauty Pageant has ever sent their illustrious ambassador, Donna Axum captured the hearts of young and old. Never dismissing that warm and delightful expression from her face, Donna Axum confided to this reporter that it was one of the heaviest schedules she has ever been on since she was named Miss America at Atlantic City in September.

After the enthusiastic reception given her at the airport in Union City on Friday and the short ceremonies at the Park Terrace later, this reporter, Miss Lucille Previti and Donna Axum went over the minute by minute schedule for Saturday.

Said Miss America: "I was going to tell you that some changes would have to be made in your schedule in order for me to get some rest. But after seeing the royal welcome I've gotten so far, I wouldn't change a minute of it. She didn't!"

Arising early and ready to begin the day, Miss America left her suite at the Park Terrace at exactly 8:15 a. m. Saturday. Waiting briefly until the other princesses and dignitaries could be accompanied to their cars, she was accompanied to her own car by Al Bushart, her official escort for the Banana Festival. Accepting the keys to the City of South Fulton, she gave reassuring words to Festival officials when the public address system would not work and the record player didn't quite do justice to the Miss America song.

Her remarks at South Fulton set the pattern for the day. Gracious, poised and looking chic in a tweed suit of soft, bright pastel colors and a stunning green hat that she said was "way out" she made herself comfortable for the busy itinerary ahead. On to Fulton, Kentucky for another official welcome the party then went to the pancake breakfast where NBC did some extensive filming.

A short tour of the city brought her to the Pure Milk Company, where the world's largest banana pudding was in the making and to the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company where Charles Reams and the staff were out front with a refreshing Pepsi-Cola. (Miss America's suite was well stocked with Pepsis and everytime the local and national chaperones went there for a short rest, Donna said ... "let's have a Pepsi.")

The tour then went to the Woman's Club building where the Banana Bake-off winners were given their awards. At eleven a. m. Miss America "met the press" and said in no uncertain terms that she likes bananas. Anxious to meet the contestants in the beauty pageant Saturday night she remarked: "I'm the last person in the world to relax them and give them confidence. I'd be scared to death if I was in a beauty contest as important as this one." She made a few remarks to them and you could see the contestants show their gratitude for her reassuring words.

For just thirty minutes Miss America relaxed before going on to the Home Folks Luncheon at the South Fulton High School cafeteria. There she was met again by flashing cameras and the

Miss America's Luncheon Breaks Record For Timing; 400 Served in 27 Minutes

Page 6 The Fulton News, Thursday, Nov. 21, 1963

"It's impossible to do," a group of Festival planners told Mrs. David Phelps when she insisted that 400 people could be served buffet style in about 20 minutes. Even her husband disagreed. He was co-chairman with her of that perfectly delightful luncheon last Saturday for Miss America and other visiting beauties and dignitaries.

But Martha (Mrs. David) Phelps held tenaciously to the earlier plan she had made to have Miss America serve herself first while that festive board of delicious foods "was untouched by any others." Knowing the tremendous amount of work all the ladies had put forth to have the luncheon go off as they had planned, the Festival officials gave her the "go-ahead" sign.

Martha knew exactly what she was talking about. All 400 people at the luncheon were served in exactly 27 minutes, according to time clocks held by Glenn Hays the now famous caterer who served the luncheon, and one doubting Festival official who said it could not be done.

Moreover, in spite of the fact that the honored guests were detained a little while to appear before a "live" television broadcast by KFVS-TV, the program was over and the guests were leaving at one o'clock sharp. Master of Ceremonies Bill Scott joined in superbly with the time schedule for the luncheon. The event was held at the South Fulton High School cafeteria. Charles McMorris, with the vivid imagination of a score of area florists transformed the dining area into an autumn wonderland. As far as the eye could see Fall flowers in abundance, with their bright and vivid hues matched the outside countryside, all aglow in a panorama of Fall beauty.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Phelps with the arrangements were Mrs. Richard Bodker, ticket chairman, Mrs. Oden Fowler and Mrs. E. K. Alexander, tables and seating, Mrs. C. A. Boyd, cloak room, and a number of other members of the South Fulton PTA.

The invocation was given by Rev. H. First Baptist Church, president of the church.

A delicious try ham, served with a delicious lunch, was served by Mrs. L. C. Norman. W. sang "Here we come" and "America," a song of the visiting beauties.

Kentucky-Tennessee Border People Get Strong Case of Banana Fever

Everybody Has Fun At Banana Festival

Carolyn Allen Is The Idol Of Her School And The Heroine Of A Proud Community

International Festival All Next Week

By ORVILLE HANCOCK
Press-Scimitar Staff Writer

They're feuding on the Tennessee-Georgian border these days, but everything is sweetness and light on the Tennessee-Kentucky border, especially at Fulton, Ky.-South Fulton, Tenn.

These twin towns, one on each side of the Tennessee-Kentucky border, are going all out in a co-operative and friendly spirit to promote the first International Banana Festival Nov. 4-9.

During this period, every automobile passenger that goes thru the towns—population of both together is 7000—will be offered free bananas. Up and down the main streets special racks over parking meters will hold big stems of bananas, which festival visitors can sample free and at their leisure. The main streets of the towns will be decorated with the flags of the Latin-American countries which produce bananas.

2000 Miles Away
It's 2000 miles from the nearest banana plantation, but these cities are going all out

Carolyn Allen was speechless when a huge entourage of visiting dignitaries and nationally famous personalities gathered at Fulton High School last Friday. She had every reason in the world to be more than "a little shook." For sitting on the stage was Ed Neuman, the renowned NBC commentator, who earns his living by making pretty speeches 'off the cuff.' Also on the stage were other distinguished speakers. And out in the audience were hundreds of Carolyn's admiring school friends who had come to watch a presentation that conferred upon the imaginative, community-loving eighth grade student the title of "Top Banana" and Kentucky Colonel.

As only a distinguished commentator such as Mr. Neuman can do, the tense and exciting atmosphere in the auditorium was soon relaxing and enjoyable when the commentator said:

"As you know Chet Huntley and David Brinkley are top bananas with NBC news, Walter Cronkite is a stale banana with CBS and ABC commentators are unripe bananas, but today I want to congratulate you on being named 'Top Banana of the International Banana Festival.'"

The morning's program, along with other events of the Festival were filmed by NBC.

The school girl, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, brought national attention to the festival, when she had the courage to write Chet Huntley about the Festival and invite him to cover the events. The NBC coverage, which will appear in connection with the Hunt Brinkley Report, is the result of Carolyn's letter.

At Friday's program the result of the auditorium fairly vibrated each time Carolyn's name was mentioned. She is the idol of school friends and the heroine of a grateful community. Need say she has the admiration of the vast broadcasting network thought enough of her request.

Kentucky Archers 'Top Bananas'

Courier-Journal West Kentucky Bureau

Fulton, Ky., Nov. 8—Kentucky, 3; Tennessee, 0. That was the final score here Friday in the world's first banana shoot during the fifth day of the week-long International Banana Festival in this Tennessee border town.

The two four-man teams from Kentucky and Tennessee shot at stalks of bananas from 50 feet. The weapons were bows and arrows. The Bluegrass team was led by Adjutant General A. Y. Lloyd, shooting for Governor Bert T. Combs, and the Volunteer team was headed by Congressman Robert A. "Fats" Everett, Frank G. Clement.

There were no casualties in the wild shooting match, but there was one indirectly connected with the festival. A South Fulton elementary school pupil, Diana Lewis, reportedly suffered a fractured wrist when she slipped on a banana peel from one of the railroad carload of free bananas given away in the twin cities of Fulton and South Fulton, Tenn., this week.

After the shoot there was a banana bakeoff and later 30 misses participated in the preliminaries of the International Banana Princess contest at South Fulton High gymnasium. The festival princess will be selected Saturday night in the Miss America of 1963.

A National Broadcasting Company team was here Friday making films and conducting interviews for a festival report to be seen later on a television show. The festival also drew the attention of President John F. Kennedy. He said in a telegram to festival officials that he had been told about the celebration by Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield and Everett.

"You are most deserving of commendation for contributions to the banana industry and in being part of a vital economic link with our neighbors to the south," said the President.

The twin cities of Fulton and South Fulton have been called the banana crossroads of America because bananas are shipped north by railroad and are inspected and re-iced here for shipment. The banana industry donated a carload of 50 stalks of ripe bananas have been hung on parking meters for free public consumption.

Saturday a ton of banana pudding, believed the largest ever made, will be dish up to the public.

Miss America will head a festival parade at 2 p.m. Saturday and the Banana Princess Contest will follow at the South Fulton gymnasium at 8 p.m.

BOY, DID THEY GO FOR THOSE BANANAS! With free bananas hanging on "trees" like this all over the downtown area, everyone had a "field day" helping themselves to the delicious fruit, as the grins on the faces of this group will testify.

HAVE A BANANA—This pretty Miss was one of hundreds who manned vantage points around the town's Hospitality booths passing out free bananas to tourists. One thing is for certain, the girls said: EVERYBODY likes bananas!

Jim Beasley of the Kentucky Department of Commerce gives the "fighting rules" to the bow and arrow warriors of the two-State Banana Shoot. The Kentucky team is at right and the Tennessee is at left. That's Randall Burcham in the right forefront. Kentucky won 3 to 0.

PHIL SPARKS, banjo-picker from Murray who is a student at Murray State College, enjoys a brief respite from the Hootenanny show on Thursday night with MC Billy Edd Wheeler.

FIRST PRIZE WINNERS (and they were GOOD!) of the Wednesday giant talent show on Lake Street were this trio of students from Murray State College whose act is billed as "Alec, Bill and Jack". They are due for a Ted Mack audition in Chicago, along with their other winnings.

WELL, DONE, GENTLEMEN! Ralph Lally (left) congratulates the Kentucky archery team following their victory over the Tennessee team at the Saturday am "Banana Shoot" downtown. Editor's Note!

All of the photographs published in this Banana Festival supplement were made available to us by Ralph Lewis, photographer for the Kentucky Department of Commerce and by James Warren, photographer for the Kentucky Department of Public Information. We have herewith published every print sent to us. We are indebted to them for the time, effort and expense they incurred in "covering" the events of our Festival.

If some event in which you were interested, or some float that you entered is not pictured here, please know that the selection of the photographs sent to us was left to the discretion of these two highly experienced and professional photographers. The miniature "Banana Special" train, entered by the City of Greenfield won first place among the floats.

Again we express the gratitude of the Festival Association to James Nutter, Commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Commerce, which built the float for Miss America; to Miss Cattle Lou Miller, Commissioner of Public Information for the Festival brochures and the tremendous amount of news stories sent all over America in our behalf; and to Jim Beasley of the Kentucky Department of Commerce for coordinating the contributions of both departments on the local scene.

Words cannot express our deep appreciation to them for the priceless assistance given us to promote our First Annual International Banana Festival.

Why not write them of your appreciation. The pictures herewith are self-explanatory. Since all of the persons on the floats cannot be positively identified, we will not publish the names of those we do know.

CONGRATULATIONS

Fulton, Kentucky - - -South Fulton, Tennessee on the outstanding success of the First International Banana Festival. We in the Banana Industry salute you for your great contribution to the Twin Cities, to the Banana Industry, and to relations with Latin American Nations to the South.

We are proud to have been a part of this festival and to have shared the spirit and enthusiasm of the people of the Twin Cities.
